

Children Suffering of Various Forms of Abuses

Lower level of knowledge and information on child issues including child rights and child protections among community people, poverty, ignorance of parents and poor level of enforcement of child related existing laws all together have put millions of children in Nepal at the risk of abuses. child sexual abuse, child labor exploitation, corporal and psychological punishment, homelessness, harassment, discrimination, abduction, child marriage, child trafficking, bullying, child pornography, child separation and neglect are few of child abuses heavily prevalent in Nepal.

A child working in a tobacco factory

A domestic child labor with a deep cut and swelling caused by an employer's assault

A domestic child labor with scar caused by pouring of the boiling cooking oil by an employer

Children embroidering a sari

Assaulted leg of a 3 grade student girl aged 8 years with red swelling caused by corporal punishment by a teacher

Activities that Access is Undertaking to Combat Child Abuses Particularly Child Domestic Labor

To protect children from the various forms of abuses, ACCESS carries out the activities aiming to provide an informal education to out of school children particularly child domestic labors; educate and mobilize the community people for the child protection; orient the children on child rights, child sexual abuse enabling them to identify abuse thereby protecting themselves and to lodge complaint to concerned authority ; and sensitize and hold accountable the duty bears such as parents, school and government agency including local government agency such as VDC, ward to address the child rights violation. Access also provides legal and medical service to abused children in collaboration with like-minded organization. Education through training, orientation, mass awareness, non formal education center, school education scholarship support is key intervention tool of Access to mitigate child abuse.

Community people being trained on child protection issues

VDC secretary with child labors studying in our ORC center

Community police pursuing a child labor to attend the ORC center for non-formal education

Posing for a group picture after the raining on "Child Rights Responsive School" provided to a community school

A group picture after the raining on "Child Protection" to a community people

Renowned artist, Mr. Madan Krishna Shrestha (2nd from left) expressed solidarity and pleaded to support ACCESS to fight for child rights

Child labors studying at our Out reach Center which aims to motivate child labors to withdraw from labor and go to school

Sponsored students for the education